

Leadership Development mini-workshops – Leadership “Essentials”

1 September (am) – London    2 September (am) – Leicester

6 September (am) – Bath        8 September (am) – Liverpool

There are times when we need to lead, whether it is in our job description or not, and sometimes it can take us by surprise!

Whether you are comfortable with the notion of being a leader or not, this “Essentials” workshop will provide you with some initial insight into the challenges and opportunities of behaving like a leader.

This creative and challenging morning workshop, commissioned by MLA, is offered free of charge and has been specifically designed to meet the diverse needs of people working in this sector.

We will explore the core concepts of leadership in the cultural sector with a strong emphasis on networking. It will cover the basic propositions of defining leadership and discussing leadership styles, as well as participating in a core leadership simulation.

This workshop is run as a half day session and is intended to be of benefit for participants who have no previous experience of leadership development but may have been leading without fully realising it!

To apply for a place on a workshop, contact cpd@mla.gov.uk or for more information please ring 07825 932 769.

“...a new insight into how I work and why I do things the way I do - very powerful stuff!!”

"Creative space to be stimulated, challenged, supported and supportive - a valuable investment in time for me"
